

Policies regarding Online Consortium Course Participation Professional and Graduate Studies (PGS) Students

General Guidelines

A student must be admitted and enrolled as a WPU PGS degree program in order to be eligible for Online Consortium course enrollment through PGS.

Residence

Online Consortium courses are considered to be “in residence” at Warner Pacific University. The course is recorded on the student’s WPU transcript and the grade is factored into the WPU GPA.

Approval

Online Consortium course enrollment must be approved by the student’s Academic Advisor and the Records Office.

Enrollment

A PGS student must be in good academic standing to enroll in an Online Consortium course. A maximum of one Online Consortium course may be taken while the student is enrolled in another PGS course.

If a student has completed the cohort and needs additional coursework for other degree requirements, they may take more than one Online Consortium course during the term, in consultation with an advisor.

Cost

Students will pay the standard per-credit PGS tuition rate to enroll in an Online Consortium course.

Books

Students are responsible for obtaining their own books and materials for Online Consortium courses. The Online Consortium will provide information directly to the student regarding the required books and materials. Many of the online consortium courses have the materials included in the online course. If a physical book is required, the WPU Library is available to assist students in finding affordable book options.
