

Policies regarding Online Consortium Course Participation Traditional Students

General Guidelines

A student must be admitted and enrolled in a WPU traditional degree program in order to be eligible for Online Consortium course enrollment during a traditional term (Fall, Spring, or Summer).

Residence

Online Consortium courses are considered to be “in residence” at Warner Pacific University. The course is recorded on the student’s WPU transcript and the grade is factored into the WPU GPA.

Approval

Online Consortium course enrollment must be approved by the student’s Academic Advisor and the Records Office.

Fall and Spring Enrollment Eligibility

A traditional student must be in good academic standing to enroll in an Online Consortium course during the fall or spring term. A maximum of one Online Consortium course may be taken during each fall/spring term.

Fall and Spring Enrollment Costs

Students are charged an enrollment fee of $150 per credit for enrollment in an Online Consortium course via Acadeum. This fee is in addition to the standard block tuition rate charged for fall/spring enrollment. Tuition remission and other forms of scholarships do not typically cover this enrollment fee. Please consult with Student Financial Services (financialaid@warnerpacific.edu) if you have any questions about the Online Consortium enrollment fee policies.

Summer Enrollment Eligibility

A student may enroll in multiple Online Consortium courses during the summer.

- Students on good academic standing may enroll in a maximum of 18 Online Consortium credits in summer.
- Students on academic probation may enroll in a maximum of 6 Online Consortium credits in summer.

Summer Enrollment Costs

Students will pay the standard per-credit summer tuition rate to enroll in an Online Consortium course. For summer 2021, the tuition rate is $400 per credit. This amount is subject to change for future summer terms. Tuition remission and other forms of scholarships do not typically cover summer tuition. Please consult with Student Financial Services (financialaid@warnerpacific.edu) if you have any questions about summer tuition rates and policies.

Books

Students are responsible for obtaining their own books and materials for Online Consortium courses. The Online Consortium will provide information directly to the student regarding the required books and materials. Many of the online consortium courses have the materials included in the online course. If a physical book is required, the WPU Library is available to assist students in finding affordable book options.
